Sanskrit General

Introduction to the Program Outcome in Sanskrit

Sanskrit is an aboriginal language, which is called the "language of deities" (Devabhāṣā). Through this language all ancient Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS) are developed. India has its own indigenous intellectual tradition (IIT) from which we can know our ancient arts & culture, philosophy, science, technology, politics, values etc. In nutshell it can be said that IKS has focused on 4 types of Puruṣārtha through which a human being can achieve his/her fulfillment in life. Nowhere (except India) in this world has been able to discover Humanism (Sanātana Dharma) first time which stands on four values namely, Dharma, Artha, Kāma and Mokṣa. This is the first time, in the Mahābhārata, Vyāsadeva (400 BCE) has said:

*dharme cārthe ca kāmē ca mokṣe ca bharatarṣabha/
yadihāsti tadanyatra yannehāsti na tatkvacit//*

(Svargārohaṇa Parvan 5/50).

It means: "Whatever is there in the Mahābhārata, it's there everywhere, something which isn't there in Mahābhārata, it merely doesn't exist". The IKS, may it be Indian classical philosophy or linguistics of Panini, Bhartrihari etc. or social science of Manu, Kauṭilya, Yājñavalkya etc., or literature of Bhāsa-Kālidāsa etc. or pure knowledge system of Upanishads or health science of Charaka, Śuśruta etc. all aim at the four Puruṣārtha.

Fulfillment of Puruṣārtha is fulfillment of humanity. Rapidly growing of corporate world means rapidly deteriorating from humanity. Sanātana Dharma has to be understood in parallel manner with the present development of the society. It is not prescribed that only the IKS has to be understood, maintained and studied, not at all, but it is advisable that along with the IKS all worldwide knowledge system may it be modern science or technology has to be followed. Einstein (1879) has rightly said that: "Science without religion is lame and religion without science is blind." So, both are necessary. Sanātana Dharma is not only a dharma of human beings, it is also a kind of knowledge system that can be followed by all people of the globe.

Sanātana-dharma means: Mānavatātvāda. We have to find and learn the Mānavatātvāda from Upanishads, Indian classical philosophy, social science of Kauṭilya, Moral values of Biduranīti, Gītā, Pañcatantra etc. and classical literature of the Rāmāyaṇa and Mahābhārata etc. On the basis of this brief introduction the following outcomes of the subject can be laid down:
