In this occasion Mrs. Barnali Pain, Associate Professor, Department of English, Seth Anandram Jaipuria College and Dr. Sohini Ghosh, Associate Professor, Department of Bengali, Vidyasagar College delivered their speeches as resource persons. Vidyasagar was a colossus, a renaissance in himself. His ideas were way ahead of his time. He was a great intellectual activist of the 19th century who installed socio-religious reforms into modern history. He brought social reforms to change the orthodox Hindu society from within. He brought significant change in the education system of Bengal. He was a well-known writer, intellectual and above all a staunch follower of humanity. The introduction of widow remarriage, popularization of women's education and against child marriage, efforts of Vidyasagar motivate us, develop our values. That is why even after his bicentenary, discussions about Vidyasagar are still very relevant today
